You may be an ambitious mid- to senior-level manager or the person in charge. My suite of career services are tailored to your specific needs.

3-column text:

Mid-Level Interview Coaching

This is a series of power-packed one-on-one Zoom sessions over 4 weeks to get you into the zone for interviews. The sessions come from my personal experience and are full of usable information, not fluff. I know what the big companies are looking for and you will get to know everything on the subject.

Senior Level Career Coaching

For ambitious executives on the rise, there are hardly educational programs out there that clearly define the next steps. A corporate career has to power ahead, not stagnate, once you reach a senior level. The challenges are great, the stakes are high and the competition is strong. Precisely why you need my guidance.

Executive Coaching

It's lonely at the top, as they say. You need a trusted voice to listen to your thoughts and instincts. Be your sounding board and an accountability partner. By being there for them, putting in a good word, sharing a bit of experience... but most of all, being the strong and effective support that you need.
